

Brussels, 18th November 2008
5.20 pm

IMMOBEL
since 1863

PRESS RELEASE

Immobel moves into the centre of Brussels, marking an additional milestone in the implementation of its new strategy.

Immobel will be opening its offices in the “Regency” building, which is ideally located in the heart of Brussels. This decision marks an additional stage in Immobel’s strategy to establish its new identity.

A perfect location

Facing the Palais de Justice on the Place Poelaert, at no. 58 Rue de la Régence, this new building offers numerous advantages:

- Improved accessibility and mobility as well as proximity to public transport,
- A modern infrastructure benefiting from the latest technologies,
- First-rate surroundings and a prime location,
- Close to flagship developments and large projects managed by Immobel.

Pursuing our strategy

This move by Immobel is in line with its new ambitions. Having equipped itself with a new image, Immobel, founded in 1863, is continuing to implement its strategic plan, which is also translated in a global reorganization of the Group’s operations.

In practice

Immobel will be leaving its old head office to move to the “Regency” building in March 2009.

For more information :

Gaëtan PIRET SPRL, Chief Executive Officer

Tel: +32(0)2 422 54 46

gaetan.piret@immobel.be

www.immobel.be